The testimony of witnesses before the committee related to some proceedings that are thus referred to in the message of the President besides many cases not therein referred to. It has been impossible to gather from the instances scattered throughout the testimony an entirely accurate list of the outrages that have been committed. In many instances numbers of casespare mentioned as having occurred in a given locality without giving the names or dates. Starting with the cases in Lincoln country, the following are specifically referred to as having occurred in other counties:—

The committee give the names of

NINETY BLACKS AND FORTY-FOUR WRITES in the counties of Lincoln, Alamance, Catawba, Craven, Caswell, Chatham, Jones, Grange, Rockingham, Rutherford, Wake and other counties, nearfyall of whom were whipped and the remainder we shot, robbed, hanged or driven from their homes, Besides these specific cases of outrages, the test.

Mony refers in general terms to others committed in Moore, Chatham, Gerson, Bancombe, Surry, Bodkin, Davie, Stokes, Robison, Sampson D aplin, Lenoir and Gaston counties. This list of crimes suggests the question whether they were committed by anombers of the Ku Klux organization and by its direction or with its countenance. The testimony already quoted and referred to show, is that in meany instances the murders and whipping so of men were expressly voted upon in their me etings and executed by their members. When it is requembered that a disclosure of their secret proceedings incurs too penalty of death, family dates for all other secrets, such as involved a members in the guit of assassination, murdet, and violence, would be most scarcelly guarded, it is remarkable not that so little evidence has been procured bearing appendance to enter it stopped smort of an means, however criminal, to accomplish its purpose. The testimony qu the witnesses also say they have no doubt the disguise was assumed in other cases by bad men who were not Ku Kiuxqi.

Beunry of Lifej and property in North CaroLina.

The second bagairy, Eamely, whether persons and property are secure in the State is considered in two aspects.—One—is the civil haw adequate to prolect those wronged and panish those who are guilty of these crisics? Second—To what extent does this organization still exist and commit acts of violence? On the 12th of April, 1869, an act was approved making the act of going masked, disguised or painted a felony. It was intended to panish the class of cases enumeraired. With the fact clearly appearing that the only conviction of menalleged to be Ku Kinx was that of three negroes who sought to screen themselves by assuming disguise to cover their depredations upon other negroes in Alamance county, many persons, and some of those whose testimony is quoted, have stated that they believe person and property are as secure under the laws of North Carolina as under those of Massachusetts or of Pennsylvania. With the exception of the outrages committed by the secret, armed bands of Ku Kiux, the statement is true. To what extent that opinion is sustained as to these offences, when it is shown that over one hundred crinies, ranging from murder to petty larceny, have been committed by the members of an organization made up of adherents of one political party, and that in no one instance has there been conviction or punisument, must be left to the reader of the test mony herewith submitted. Under this state of facts it is idle to say that in the past the victims of violence have been protected or public safety secared by the vindication of the law and the punishment of the guilty.
How is it now? In pursuance of the authority conterred upon him by the act of January 29, 1879, "to secure the better protection of life and property." Governor Hoidea, in March, 1870, declared the COUNTY OF ALAMANCE IN INSURRECTION.

being and to have hoped fer the continuance of peace and order. These anticipations do not seem to have been realized; for, since that time, in other portions of the State acts of violence have again been committed, as appears from the extracts of the test mony.

portions of the State acts of violence have again been committed, as appears from the extracts of the testimony.

In connection with this symptom of reviving activity we cannot overlook what has happened in the Legislature of the State since the message of the Governor was delivered. It will be borne in mind that the perpetration of the numerous crimes in Alamance and Orange counties by armed and disguised bands was the reason given for declaring those counties in insurrection; that many arrests were made by Governor Holden's orders of persons suspected of belonging to the ku Klux, while some were arrested who were not shown to be members. One who acknowledges he was a member states (page 324) that the large majority of these who were held with him as prisoners acknowledged to each other that they did belong to the order. The feeling that would be aroused against the Governor in a fraternity bound together by such oaths and by the terror of the common peril in which they stood for the multitude of crimes they have committed would naturally be intense. The effect of these outrages upon the colored voters was to keep many of them from the election. This, coupled with the introduction of an issue arising out of the brodigal and unjustifiable use, by the railroad presidents, of the bonds issued on the credit of the State for public improvements, resulted in the defeat of the party friends of Governor Holden at the election and an adverse majority was feturated to the Legislature. Frederick N. Strudwick, a member of the House of Representatives, whose name is unenviably connected in the testimony with an alleged arrangement, as a member of this order, to

The law authorizing the Governor to declare counties in mairrection has been repealed, and one witness states that the act making it a penal offence to go disguised has also been repealed. With what feelings and apprehensions the class of persons who have heretore heast making it a penal offence to go disguised has also been repealed. THE MINORITY REPORT.

Senators Blair and Bayard, constituting a minority of the committee, found themselves unable to agree with the majority and present their views at length. After citing the resolution under which the committee was appointed and referring to the report transmitted by the President in answer to the Senate resolution of inquiry in relation to the alleged organization of disloyal persons in North the Senate resolution of disloyal persons in North Carolina, the minority say:—

Thus it will appear that the resolution under which the special committee was appointed is founded on the report transmitted as a forestald by the President. Instantly upon this appointment the committee organized and proceeded without delay te examine witnesses, who were apparently all ready in waiting in the city of Washington, to wit:—The son of Governor Holden, Colonel George W. Kirk, and Bergen, his Lleutenant Colonel. No opportunity, save that affected by its single reading in the Senate, has been given the undersigned to inspect the report of the misjerily or obtain proper knowledge of its contents. The report was read once and instantly transmitted to the printer, by whom it has not yet been returned. We desire to attract the attention of the Senate to the scope of the resolution under which the committee have acted, "to inquire into the truth or falsehood of the crimes and outrages of a political character in the Southern States." Here is an unlimited field of general allegation, qualified only by the word "political," and conveying nothing definite to the communities whose domestic affairs were without notice or specified charges, to have a Congressional drag net thrown over them and be hauled before the committee; and the closing paragraph of the resolution only aggravated the dangers and difficulties of such an inquisition by inquiring whether there be in those States security for persons and property.

dangers and difficulties of such an inquisition by in-quiring whether there be in those States security for persons and property.

After saying that no State has passed any law in violation of the tourteenth amendment, and that no question had been made relative to the exercise of power in the emergencies set forth in the fourth section of article three of the constitution, the minority continue:—The undersigned are therefore at a loss to discover where such power is derived as is set forth in the resolution and acted upon by the committee, and at a loss to discover where such power is derived as is set forth in the resolution and acted upon by the committee, and in the name and under the limitations of the constitution of the United States, against any and all action of an inquisitorial character into the internal and demestic affairs of any of the States, or any attempt by Congress or the Executive to interfere with the State governments of citizens individually as to matters not cognizable by the federal government under the constitution. In view of the fact that North Carolina is, in all respects, under the constitution and laws, upon an equal footing with all the other States of the Union, the minority assert that any claim of power to investigate the internal and comestic affairs of that State to invade her police powers of control over all matters within her jurisdiction must be equally and and have equal force when applied to any other State, and the reserved rights under the tenth article of the constitutions of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Ohio or New York app in 10 degree more secure than those of North Carolina.

The exercise or omission of any such power is, in the outping of the migority, unwarranted by the equal force when applied to any other State, and the reserved rights under the tenth article of the constitutions of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Ohio of New York alp in po degree more secure than those of North Carolina.

The exertise or omission of any such power is, in the opinion of the minority, unwarranted by the constitution and utterly subversive of our federal system of State governments. They say, further, there can no longer be urged

The First of Military NECESSITY.

The flag of the nation floats in placed security in every part of the Union, and there is no pretence of opposition in any quarter to the peaceable operation of the civil authority. After setting forth that the kind of investigation pursued has simply given an opportunity for any one to come forward and assail the State and people of North Carolina by any character of testimeny and in any manner that projudice or animosity can suggest, the minority continue—"But all this is manifestly the result of a plan cut and dried, by a conspiracy formed of disappoince opiticians, who have lost the confidence of their people and have been cast out of office by the almost unanimous voice of a betrayed and injured constituency. At the head of this conspiracy plainly stanus William M. Holden, the Governor of North Carolina, and new undergoing trial by process of impeachment for high instacemeanors and gross abuses of his official power. He has beggived the treasury of his State and plandered, outraged and betraved her people, and now looks to the strong arm of the federal government as the only means of rescuing him and his followers from the just punishment due their crimes. In furtherance of this scheme the present measure was instituted and this committee room; and what is

THE CHARACTER OF THESE WITNESSES ready and betraved her people, and now looks to the strong arm of the educated provers was instituted and this committee room; and what is

THE CHARACTER OF THESE WITNESSES ready and in attendance for examination, and even his testimony of his fa

In the same manner they impeach the reliability of the testimony of the remainder of the witnesses, not one of whom, the manority assert, testifies to facts within his own knowledge tending to prove North Carolina to be less safe as a place of residence than any portion of the Union lying north of her boundaries. The mitnerity then enter upon an extensive argument to snow that the disorders which have existed in North Carolina are attributable to misrule of the so-called

In the exercise of their functions. The report of the majority seeks to evade the force of this lact, thus admitting the fact by asserting that the Ku Klux organization is so banded together as to defeat the ends of matter by minimidating witnesses, packing the following the fact by asserting that the Ku Klux organization is so banded together as to defeat the ends of matter by minimidating witnesses, packing the fact that the control of the catter of the power to remove causes from any locality in the power to remove causes from any locality in the state to any other locality, at the option of the prosecution. Every judge and every word of the prosecution. Every judge and every word mainted where the induce of the Ku Klux prevented a conviction, it was only necessary for the solicitor to make a motion and the judge would order the removal of the same from county to county, until a satisfactory venue was reached. It is periectly evident from the evidence that the process of the courts could existence was offered to less execution. It is also clear that the causes could have been removed from any place to some county in which a fair trust might have been bad. Why, then, did the Governor prefer to resort to the extreme measure of proclaiming the counties of Alamance and Caswell in Insurerction rather than use the remedies ready to mis hand in which coavictions might have been obtained? Why did he cail on the Fresident for troops, set on foot his negro minital, ele by runfans imported into the State on account of their extraordinary brutality, and proceed to selze, imprison, lassif and torture his prisoneers? There is but one explanation. In object was to strike terror to the period of the Congress of the United States. This is the only explanation with the remaining the called the coverned with open called to the resonance of the propagation of the course the claim of the propagation of the course of the United State whose leaders confessed it to Caswell. The number of these outrages, detestable and wicked as they are, is nevertheless grossly and wildly exaggerated, and this no one can doubt who will examine the testimony and who has had any knowledge of the credulity and inaccuracy of statements characteristic of our well meaning colored people. North Carolina is one of the largest States, territorially, in the Union, and is divided into eighty-seven counties and contains nearly one and a half millions of people.

is actually proven to have been committed, excepting in one or the other of six, perhaps eight, of these counties, and yet it is proposed to employ violent and stringent measures of coercion and repression to the remaining mine-tenths of an estate, against which no breath of evidence or proof of lawlessness has ever been adduced, but which, on the contrary, exhibits a condition of quiet almost suggesting the insensibility of despair. What cause can be alleged, what justification to the American people can be used for this renewed and wanton invasion of a peaceful community? The statement that anarchy there exists is absurdly untre, and testimony now laid before the Senate overwhelmingly establishes its mitruth. If aggressive laws are to be enacted, let will not be less violent or wrong, but it will be less hypocritical and more manly. To any fair minded name we confidently commit the proofs contained in the testimony now presented by the committee, and aver that in the face of such wrongs as have been inflicted upon our unfortunate and crushed people by the rulers placed over them, not by their own consent, but by the exercise of despodic powers by the Congress of the United States. The example of equal submissiveness and patient endurance can be found in nistory as is now presented by the ceople of the State of North Carolina. This is the truth in a nuisheli, that Holden and his official supporters have failed to maintain themselves by any means, foul as well as fair, in their State. They have appeared to pepular elections and have been rejected with something near to unanimity by every taxpayer in the State, and now Congress is asked to step in and force North Carolina down again under the feet of her radieal matters, and well, when similar attemps were made to govern her this finite and the produce of the radies of the prop
